

Norbert Lossau

Dr Norbert Lossau is the Library Director and Chief Information Officer (CIO) Scholarly Information at Bielefeld University, Germany, where he moved from his post as first Head of the Oxford Digital Library, University of Oxford, UK. Before this, he was subject librarian and the founding director of the Digitisation Centre at Goettingen State and University Library.

Norbert Lossau is the principal organiser of the International Bielefeld Conferences (2004-), a biannual strategic forum for academic librarians in Europe. His areas of activity include advanced electronic services development, new paradigms in scientific publishing and communication, university strategies for scientific information, eScience and international collaboration. He is member of various national and international steering committees and advisory boards.