

Patrick Scherhauser

Patrick Scherhauser is Research Fellow at the Department of Political Science / Institute for Advanced Studies in Vienna. He participates in the project of CONNEX (Connecting Excellence on European Governance) - a project funded by the European Union within its Sixth Framework Programme of research. Within CONNEX he acts as the Managing Editor of the Living Reviews in European Governance (LREG), the first Living Review in the Social Sciences. His major research fields are European integration, environmental/energy policy and participatory democracy.

Department of Political Science, Institute for Advanced Studies (IAS), Austria

The Department of Political Science has been one of the core scientific units since the foundation of the Institute for Advanced Studies (IAS) in the autumn of 1963. The Department specialises in European Integration, with a broad focus on the variety of issues associated with this topic. This includes the EU overall and its treaties, political institutions and decision-making patterns and policies.